DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Portman et al. (US 6,944,447) herein after "Portman" in view of McClure (US 6,684,082).

As per claim 1, Portman teaches, "a system for accessing services, applications and content in a communication network from a user terminal, the services, applications and content being stored in or linked to one or more databases connected to said communication network", comprising:

"an Interpreter module means connected to receive a user-entered text phrase in the user's own natural language by means of a text and grammar recognition process, said module for outputting commands and inquiries" (col. 2, lines 32-59, "text-based message" and col. 4, line 48 to col. 5, line 50);

"a content logic means receiving said commands and inquiries for searching and finding services, applications and content among said services, applications and content in said one or more databases satisfying specifications defined by the commands and inquiries from the Interpreter module means" (col. 9, lines 6-65), and

Portman does not explicitly teach, "a priority logic means for sorting said found services, applications and content in a prioritized list according to predefined priority rules". However, McClure teaches, , "a priority logic means for sorting said found services, applications and content in a prioritized list according to predefined priority rules" (Abstract). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use MaClure teaching of a priority logic in the invention of Portman because McClure teaches his invention provides controlling the operation of the mobile station preferably controls at least one of scanning behavior or a computing behavior of the mobile station (Abstract).

As per claim 2, Portman teaches, "further comprising a set of tables in the content logic means associating possible incoming commands and inquiries with search strings for search engines to operate in said one or more databases with links to services, applications and content in said one or more databases" (col. 9, lines 6-55).

As per claims 3 and 4, Portman does not explicitly teach, "a priority logic means". However, McClure teaches, , "a priority logic means" (Abstract). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to use MaClure teaching of a priority logic in the invention of Portman because McClure teaches his invention provides controlling the operation of the mobile station preferably controls at least one of scanning behavior or a computing behavior of the mobile station (Abstract).

As per claim 5, Portman teaches, "providing user terminal means having a browser means for user access to the system by means of an option in the user terminals in which the text phrase is entered, for transmitting the user-entered text phrase to the Interpreter module, for receiving said prioritized list and for displaying at least a part of this as selectable service, application and content, and for carrying out operations of a user selected service, application and content" (col. 11, line 49 to col. 12, line 49).

As per claim 6, Portman teaches, "wherein said browser is a SIM or WAP browser" (col. 11, lines 26-38).

As per claim 7, Portman teaches, "wherein the Interpreter module means, the Content Logic means and the Priority Logic means reside in a server associated with the communication network, and wherein the server is connected to a billing mechanism charging users for each use of the system" (col. 11, lines 26-38).

As per claim 8, Portman teaches, "wherein the communication network is a GSM, GSM/GPRS or a UMTS network and that the user terminals are cellular phones" (col. 4, lines 12-22).

As per claim 9, Portman teaches, "wherein a Speech Recognition Module is integrated in the Interpreter Module providing voice based user access and control to/of the system" (col. 4, lines 48-56)

As per claim 10, it is analyzed and thus rejected of the same reasons set forth in the rejection of claim 1.
